Some exciting projects include Games Decks to go on superyachts made entirely from carbon, which can be used for playing basketball, football, tennis and volleyball making great use of deck space. Also popular this year are stylish and lightweight carbon sun awnings, poles and railings and carbon swim ladders, boarding poles and steps. All products are of the highest quality and extend the usage and improve the appearance of any vessel.

Another product really taking off this year is the adjustable aluminum Jet Ski trolley. These are adjustable in height and width and reinforced to fit a wide range of craft including the heaviest jet skis on the market. These are easily moveable by hand with locking wheels and lashing points, allowing jet skis to be moved around the garage to permit access and safe storage, making any tender garage more functional and effective and freeing up more space.

Peter Emmons, at Superyacht Tender and Toys explains, 'Coming from the world of high performance yachting, we know our clients, the people we design for, and we understand how the products are used. We have teamed up with manufacturers who have all the design, engineering and manufacturing capacity to answer the diverging needs of our clients and we are excited about some of the diverse projects we have in the pipeline.'
