Josh Richardson looks at the benefits of dealing with just one company that can supply all your tender and toy needs

Superyacht Tenders and Toys is widely becoming known as the tender and toy supplier for owners supply on new build yachts. They provide the industry with a one stop shop, providing the best value products and industry leading aftersales service. They have a proven history of delivering and supporting some of the world's most significant yachts. As dealers for every make and model of toy and tender Superyacht Tenders and Toys offers choice, not compromise, with the ability and resources to back up every purchase. Their promise to you is support that is second to none.

Superyacht Tenders and Toys work closely with tender manufacturers, yacht builders, owners and captains to ensure that each new yacht has a tender, or a collection of tenders, that suits their individual requirements for looks, use, price, size and, importantly, that is delivered in the timeframe required by the yacht. Superyacht Tenders and Toys can propose suitable options based upon a client brief, design bespoke solutions, arrange sea trials and yard visits, project manage and provide regular photo reports on build progress and handle shipping and delivery. The service does not end there as they continue to support the yacht with any warranty queries and spares requirements after delivery.

Every new build yacht needs an inventory of toys onboard and there are toys available to suit every owner or charter guest. Superyacht Tenders and Toys starts by providing a variety of proposals to the yacht/owner and works with the captain, owner or project manager to identify the items that the boat requires and then works towards getting these onboard in the timeframe that suits the build.

They can visit the client to discuss any of the options available and can even design bespoke toys where required. Toys can often be branded with the yacht name and logo depending on the lead time available. They can either ship items individually or gather all items together at their UK headquarters ready for shipping to the yacht at a time that is convenient in the build schedule. This is usually the most cost effective method and assists the yacht with its planning.

Superyacht Tenders and Toys does not just provide the obvious water toys but is increasingly being asked to source safety equipment, gym equipment, fenders, scooters and specialist sports packages for yachts such as golfing set ups, clay pigeon shooting traps and everything else you can imagine to go onboard a superyacht and more!

One of the current favourites is the amphibious Quadski, a quadbike and a jetski in one! A true amphibian, the Quadski is equally agile on land and water. A simple touch of a switch retracts the wheels after entering the water and deploys them when approaching land. The transition is quick and easy, allowing you to enjoy an exciting experience in either environment. Capable of reaching speeds of 45mph on both land and water, the Quadski delivers spirited and stable performance and has recently been made road legal so as to add to its appeal.

Equally exciting is Superyacht Tenders and Toys own Inflatable Landing Craft, which is attracting a lot of attention. This catamaran tender offers clients a huge amount of flexibility in its use. It can be produced as a fully inflatable craft or with a folding aluminium floor. With its folding bow door, the iLC can be used to transport large loads to and from the mothership and the beach, it can be set up to carry dive tanks on a dive trip, transport BBQs to the beach, tow water toys and much, much more.
